A SUNNY NATURE.

Lovely Woman's Best and Greatest Charm.

What a Bright and Attractive Woman Has to Say to Her Sisters.

How a Happy and Joyous Nature Can Be Acquired.

Women make the sunshine of life.

Did you ever watch the flowers turn with irresistible persistence toward the sunlight? So does the bright, joyous, sunny nature of a woman irresistibly attract all to her light-hearted, merry, and buoyant spirits.

Such a nature makes glad the heart; it makes happy the time.

For a man, all the anxiety of business, the weight of care, the gloom and depression of spirits are dispersed as clouds by the sun before the bright smile of a joyous, happy wife.

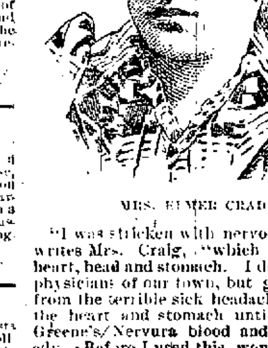
And it follows no less surely that a cross woman, one never pleased, always fault-finding, discontented and unhappy, will repel all who approach her, and make those who should love her shrink from her society.

Now, the first requisite of good nature is good health. No one out of health can have bounding spirits and feel particularly good natured.

If a woman feels nervous, weak, tired, languid, lifeless and miserable, experiences a faintness, sense of fulness after eating, has irregular appetite, constipated bowels, frequent headaches, wakeful or disturbed and unrefreshing sleep, weak back, backache, dragging down pains, irregularities, female weakness, any or all of these, it is impossible for her to be light-hearted and happy.

And in the spring these feelings are very prevalent because of the torpid condition of the system after the winter. She must be cured first, and, with returning health, her old-time spirits will come back.

If women will follow closely the advice and example of our bright and attractive correspondent, Mrs. Elmer Craig, of Le Roy, Ill., they can easily attain both health and good spirits.



MRS. ELMER CRAIG.

"I was stricken with nervous disease," writes Mrs. Craig, "which affected my heart, head and stomach. I doctored with physicians of our town, but got no relief from the terrible sick headaches, pains in the heart and stomach until I used Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. Before I used this wonderful medicine the nerves in my eyes were so affected that I feared that I would lose my sight. I would get so nervous and weak I could not walk across the room without terrible palpitation of the heart. I had not taken one bottle of Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, before my head and eyes were cleared of their dull aching, and I am growing stronger every day. I cannot do half justice in the praise of this medicine."

This wonderful remedy is the greatest boon to women ever discovered, and by its use you can be restored to sound, vigorous and healthy womanhood. By all means use it now, in the spring, for everybody needs a spring medicine at this season of the year. This is the best of all spring medicines and is recommended as such by doctors, to invigorate the blood, strengthen the nerves and start up the natural action of all the organs. You can procure it at the druggists, for $1, and it is purely vegetable and harmless. Indeed, it is the prescription of the great specialist in chronic diseases, Dr. Greene, of 34 Temple Place, Boston, Mass., who gives consultation free, personally or by letter. Use it and it will bring back strength to your nerves, freshness to your complexion, brightness to your eyes, the bloom to your cheeks, elasticity and spring to your step, and that happiness and enjoyment of life which you have missed so long.

THE KIND THAT CURES

MRS. MELINDA A. KEDIKER, Washburn, Me.

A MARVELOUS CURE!

DANA SARSAPARILLA CO.:
GENTLEMEN:—I feel that I owe to God a deep debt of gratitude for the great cure wrought in me by taking scarcely four bottles of

DANA'S SARSAPARILLA.

I had CANKER in its worst form. My throat was eaten full of cavities, and my lungs were affected so badly that I would cough all night. Could get no rest or sleep. Would raise a large amount of phlegm mixed with blood. I grew so weak I could not sit up for over three months before I began using DANA'S, and for over four months I had vomited up everything I ate. No tongue can tell what I suffered; and my husband gave me up to die. I tried the most skilled Physicians, but their medicine was torture to my throat. In this condition I began using DANA'S SARSAPARILLA. I stopped vomiting the second day I took it, and have not vomited since. The CANKER has been healed, though the cavities in my throat show its fearful ravages.
I am a dressmaker, and can now do my work ... STRONG AND WELL. All who know ... WONDERFUL CURE ... None but God can really know how I suffered. I can never express my gratitude.
Every word of this is strictly true.
Gratefully yours,
MRS. MELINDA A. KEDIKER.

HEAPS OF SNOW.

A Blizzard that Beats Them All on Wednesday.

New-York and Boston Wallowing in a Mass of Slush.

BOSTON, Feb. 22. Nine inches of soft, heavy snow fell hereabouts last night. The mercury stands at thirty. The snow turned to sleet at 9.30 A. M. with the wind north, northeast and stiff. There is now more snow in Boston streets than at the time of the '88 blizzard. Snow ploughs were run all night and street cars, both horse and electric, are moving at walking pace. Fortunately the travel is light, business being completely suspended on account of the holiday. Steam roads are working under great difficulty. Many trains are cancelled and all others are irregular. The snow has drifted badly in the country.

The four masted schooner Glenwood went ashore on Hardings Ledge, at 3.30 A. M. The crew were saved and are at the Life Saving Station.

Gave Up the Job.

LOWELL, Mass., Feb. 22. Fifteen inches of snow fell up to noon and business is tied up. The electric car men worked all night to keep the tracks open but at 8 o'clock gave it up. The cars were blocked along the routes and horses pulled them to the stable. The storm will be more disastrous than the March blizzard of four years ago. Snow is still falling and drifting by the northeast wind.

Nearly Three Feet on a Level.

SCRANTON, Pa., Feb. 22. The mantle of snow which now (11 A. M.), envelopes northeastern Pennsylvania, measures 30 inches on a level, 16 inches being added to the fall by the storm which began last evening, and has continued without cessation until noon to-day. Railroads everywhere are blockaded. Deep snow has forced idleness at every mine in this section of anthracite regions.

Vessels Damaged by the Storm.

VINEYARD HAVEN, Mass., Feb. 22. Schooner Annie M. Dickinson, of Edgartown, Capt. Atkinson, from Port Johnson for Portsmouth, dragged ashore on Edgartown flats during a violent easterly storm, this morning. Revenue Cutter Samuel Dexter is endeavoring to render her assistance. Schooner Henry May before reported ashore on Chappaquiddick Island, was set afloat by the heavy easterly storm and drift ice this morning. The crew made sail and beached the vessel in Edgartown harbor. She has no anchors.

Schooner J. H. Wainwright, ashore on East Chop, is bilged.

More Additions to the Snow Bank.

PITTSFIELD, Mass., Feb 22. This section is experiencing another bad storm. It began, last evening, and fifteen inches of snow has been added to the three feet already on the ground. The wind is high and has drifted the snow badly.

Drifting Badly in Albany, N.Y.

ALBANY, N. Y., Feb. 22. A blizzard which began near midnight is still raging with unabated fury. A foot of snow on the level has already fallen and is now drifting badly. Trains on the Central Hudson, Boston & Albany and Delaware & Hudson are from two to four hours late and the greatest difficulty is being experienced in keeping roads open. Despatches from the interior and western towns in the State indicate the storm is general.

Buried Under Slush.

NEW YORK, Feb. 22. Six inches of snow fell in this city between 8 o'clock last evening and 2.30 this morning; then rain fell, which continued until 8 o'clock, and the result is that the streets of the city are in a worse condition than they have been at any time during the winter. Fortunately there is little going on in the business sections of the town, and down town streets, which are buried under a mass of slush, are practically deserted.

FIRE RECORD.

Hotel Damaged in Concord.

CONCORD, N. H., Feb. 22. The American House was damaged several hundred dollars this forenoon, by fire caused by a defective chimney. Fully insured.

Turned Out in a Terrible Snow Storm.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Feb. 22. A fire that partially destroyed six dwelling houses, and turned their occupants out into a blinding snow storm, occurred at 4.45 this morning, in two story and basement frame houses 106 to 116 Linden St. Loss to tenants and on buildings, $12,000.

FOUR MEN KILLED

By a Cave in at South Josslin Mine.

JOSSLIN, Mo., Feb. 22. By a cave in at the shaft at the South Josslin Company's mine yesterday, four miners were killed.

ASYLUM FIRE INVESTIGATION.

Some Plain Language by Attorney General Eastman.

DOVER, N. H., Feb. 22. Members of the State board of health who have been investigating the recent county insane asylum fire, were unable to leave here to-day for the farm, and will try it tomorrow if the storm has abated. There are drifts on some roads from eight to sixteen feet high.

In regard to the asylum fire investigation, Attorney General Eastman said to-day: "I guess it was a drunken state of affairs there and we shall go to the bottom of it. There is no doubt but that we shall fix the cause of the fire and be able to show that had proper work been done after the fire was discovered, it would have been extinguished without loss of life."

Dr. Watson, of the State board, says he will take up and investigate the charges of immorality which are rife, and learn, if possible, the condition of affairs at the asylum. He thinks they were rotten.

THE BRAZILIAN TROUBLE.

The Revolutionists Marching Toward Porto Alegre.

NEW YORK, Feb. 22. The Herald's Valparaiso dispatch says: With an army of 4,500 the Federal revolutionists of Rio Grande do Sol, Brazil, have begun their march toward Porto Alegre. The Federal forces along the frontier are preparing to strike a decisive blow by gaining possession of Uruguayana. The Federal troops are received with enthusiasm in all parts of Rio Grande do Sol.

KANSAS SENATORIAL MATTER.

P. B. Waggoner Declared the Nominee of the Republicans.

TOPEKA, Kan., Feb. 22. The Senatorial question is about settled and P. B. Waggoner, of Atchison, will be declared the nominee of the Republicans for Senator. Yesterday the Republicans decided to allow the two Democratic members of the House, who refused to vote for Martin and who have affiliated with Republicans, to name the candidate. These Democrats submitted the name of Waggoner. He will be given 83 votes out of a total of 163.

FOREIGN NEWS.

Against Home Rule—A Manifesto by the Grand Orange Lodge of Belfast.

LONDON, Feb. 22. The manifesto of the Grand Orange Lodge of Belfast, has sent out against the Home Rule bill, demands either union with Great Britain or complete separation from Great Britain. "We would accept the latter," says the manifesto, "sorrowfully, but courageously as the only alternative left to a deserted and betrayed people, but we would resist to death any attempt to force upon us a bastard combination of the two."

The Burden was Too Much.

LONDON, Feb. 22. Pilson Barker, one of the leading members of the firm of G. Barker & Co., which recently failed, committed suicide, to-day, in a railway carriage, blowing out his brains with a revolver. The failure created great excitement, being for $3,250,000.

BREAKING THE RECORD.

The Worst Blizzard of the Season Raging in Portland.

PORTLAND, Feb. 22. The worst blizzard of this winter is prevailing here to-day. The thermometer is 10 above and the snow is so thick that is impossible to see more than a dozen rods in any direction. A very rough sea prevails outside, there being a stiff northeasterly gale.

Blowing and Growing Colder.

PORTLAND, Feb. 22. The storm is increasing in severity. A heavy northeast gale is blowing and growing colder. Seven inches of snow have already fallen and it is still snowing hard. All trains are hours behind time. The electric cars to Deering and Westbrook are unable to run and the horse cars have been put on. Nothing like this has been seen here this winter.

WASHINGTON NEWS.

An Unproductive Night Session

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22. The incidents of the night session of the House were similar to those which occur on every such occasion. Under the guise of questions of personal privilege a number of gentlemen availed themselves of an opportunity to state their views on the car coupler bill and acrimonious colloquies were not infrequent. The advocates of the car coupler bill showed a stern determination during the night to pass the measure and their opponents put up equally as strong a face against its enactment. At 6.30 this morning the House adjourned. There was a private agreement that Wise should be recognized on Monday to suspend the rules and pass the bill.

Gas in a Well.

St. Louis Globe Democrat; I saw a curious method used the other day in Illinois to take the foul air out of a well. The well was to be cleaned, but the man that took the job was afraid to go down until he had ascertained the quality of air at the bottom. He let down a lighted candle, and when it descended to about six feet of the bottom it went out as suddenly as though extinguished by a whiff of air. That was all he wanted to know. He was then sure that the well had poisonous gas in it, and took a small umbrella, tied a string to the handle and lowered it open into the well.

Having let it go nearly to the bottom, he drew it up, carried it a few feet from the well and upset it. He repeated this operation twenty or thirty times, with all the bystanders laughing at him, then again lowered the light which burned clear and bright even at the bottom. He then condescended to explain that the gas in the well was carbonic acid gas, which is heavier than air, and therefore could be brought up in an umbrella, just as though it were so much water. It was a simple trick, yet perfectly effective.

THEY SAID I MUST DIE; BUT I AM WELL AND HAPPY.

MR. KALLOCH SAYS:—"I am 55 years old, and for the last 15 years, have had the worst Blood Disease known to man. To add to my misery, my Bowels became constipated, appetite ceased, and I was so reduced in flesh and strength, I could only walk by the aid of canes. An Eating Sore started on my side, and in spite of physicians and medicines, increased, until it measured 2 by 1 1-2 inches, laying sections of my Ribs bare. Dr. Kilgore, advised SKODA'S REMEDIES. One course, 4 bottles of the DISCOVERY, with the LITTLE TABLETS, using the OINTMENT and SOAP externally, perfectly healed the sore. I have gained 25 lbs. in flesh, and am a WELL MAN."
I certify to truth of above statement. I knew Kalloch's condition before treatment, saw him during treatment, and have seen him since cured.

A TERRIBLE CRASH.

Frightful Collision on the Pennsylvania Railroad.

Five Men Killed and Several Injured.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Feb. 22. The Southern Express on the Pennsylvania Railroad, which left the Broad street station at 10.20 this morning, collided with the Morton, Pa., accommodation train near the South street station, West Philadelphia. Three cars of the accommodation train were wrecked and five persons were killed and fifteen others injured. The names of the killed and wounded are not yet learned. The injured have been removed to the Presbyterian Hospital. A rumor gained a wide circulation that a special train bearing President Harrison from Washington to New York was one of the trains in collision. This, however, was untrue. The President's special passed through here about on time. The accommodation train was crossing the switch to pull into South street station. All the cars but the last one had crossed when the Southern Express came rushing down the track and struck the local passenger that was upon the switch full in the middle. The express was made up entirely of heavy Pullmans and the light passenger car was hurled fifty feet from the track broken and smashed by the terrible force of the blow. The express train escaped injury and the engineer immediately stopped his train.

Another Wreck—Several Cars Demolished.

READING, Pa., Feb. 22. A wreck occurred on the Pennsylvania & Schuylkill Valley Railroad, between Phoenixville and Spring City, last night. A shifting engine with an empty train of forty coal cars collided with a freight near Spring City. Both engines and fourteen cars were demolished. Watson Weller and John Dennis were killed. Two others were seriously injured.

THE LUMBERMEN

Of the Kennebec Meet in the Capital City.

The lumbermen of the Kennebec region were in Augusta in force on Monday and Tuesday. They were drawn by the annual meetings of the four companies driving from its tributaries into the Kennebec.

Nearly thirty of the men who control Maine's great industry attended these meetings.

The first held was that of the Moose River Log Driving Company at the office of Hon. J. Manchester Haynes in the Opera House block. The following officers were elected: Directors, J. Manchester Haynes, president; A. B. Page, Shawmut; Heman Whipple, Solon; Greenleaf Lawrence, South Gardiner, and Charles Fogg; clerk, D. C. Palmer, Gardiner; treasurer, S. W. Philbrick, Skowhegan.

Then the Moosehead Lake Navigation Company held a meeting at the same place and elected the following officers: Directors, G. A. Phillips, Fairfield, president; A. B. Page, Shawmut; Heman Whipple, Solon; L. H. Folsom, Greenville, and F. H. Appleton; clerk and treasurer, S. W. Philbrook, Skowhegan.

The lumbermen adjourned to G. A. R. hall where later the meeting of the Dead River Log Driving Company was held and the following officers elected: Directors, G. A. Phillips, Fairfield; president. S. A. Nye, Fairfield; William H. Shaw, Greenville; E. P. Viles, North New Portland; and J. P. Clark, Skowhegan; clerk and treasurer, S. W. Philbrick, Skowhegan.

The day's official proceedings closed with the election of the officers of the Dead River North Branch Log Driving Company as follows: Directors, F. P. Purington, Skowhegan, president; Wm. G. Shaw, Greenville; E. P. Tiles, North New Portland; C. M. Phillips, Fairfield; J. P. Dundley, of Kingfield; clerk and treasurer, S. W. Philbrick, Skowhegan.

The most interesting feature of the gathering, however, was the talk before and after the meeting.

The log buyers of the Kennebec find that, as a result of the entrance of the pulp mill men into the field, the price of logs is being rapidly enhanced. But, unfortunately, competition elsewhere keeps down the price of finished lumber.

Between these two facts the Kennebec lumbermen find themselves in danger of having their profits cut off as paper is by shears.

They naturally do not like the prospect. They are trying to meet the difficulty. About two weeks ago those who are distinctively buyers held a secret meeting at the Cony House and decided that there were two methods of relief.

The first is to make a general rule that purchases of logs shall be paid for by a scale taken at the boom, when they are ready for delivery, instead of at the woods when the logs are cut and marked. In this way a man would pay for only such logs as were actually delivered to him. Now, through a variety of reasons, there is generally a shortage from the scale in the woods. This rule would, therefore, virtually amount to a reduction in the price of logs.

The other plan is to put a maximum price on logs and stick to it. If the sellers should decline to accept it, then the more radical buyers say they will shut down their mills until the sellers come to their senses. They say they haven't been making any too much money of late and can afford to let their plants lie idle for a time until either the price of logs falls or the price of lumber rises.

The Kennebec Log Driving Company held its annual meeting at G. A. R. hall, Tuesday morning.

The following officers were elected: Omar Clark, Carratunk; F. M. Totman, Fairfield; Levi W. Weston, Skowhegan; Ira H. Randall, Augusta, and Charles Lawrence, South Gardiner, directors; D. C. Palmer, Gardiner, clerk; S. W. Philbrick, treasurer.

But one old director, Mr. Clark, is on the board, although Messrs. M. G. Shaw, of Bath, and J. S. Bradstreet, of Gardiner, were re-elected, but positively declined to serve.

The meeting was for a time the most interesting and raciest of late years, and the election called out much plain talk. A certain element, called the younger, was dissatisfied with the former management of the company and worked successfully for the control of the directory.

After the regular meeting the log buyers held another secret meeting which lasted but a short time. Nothing was done except to talk over the situation and adjourn until Saturday forenoon at 10 o'clock at the Cony House.

A PRINCELY GIFT

To the American National Red Cross.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22. Dr. Joseph Gardner, of Indiana, has donated a very valuable tract of land in his State as a permanent endowment for the organization. His letter tendering the gift, which is self-explanatory, follows:

BEDFORD, Ind., Feb. 10, 1893.

Miss Clara Barton,
President American National Red Cross.
Dear Madam:

After consulting our mutual friend and co-worker, Mr. J. H. Morlan, as to the probable acceptability of a tract of land which I would like to dedicate as a thank-offering to humanity, I have concluded after mature consideration that this end cannot be in any manner so completely and permanently attained as by placing it under the control of yourself, as the honored President of this dearly beloved almoner of Humanity. From my personal knowledge of your ability to make small amounts of money do the work of large ones, and of your abiding and all-abounding charity, which I have often seen rob you of your personal income, when all the better instincts of the rest of us said that we were not bearing our share of the common burdens—for I have known your toilsome days and sleepless nights in the discharge of the onerous duties which your exalted position have made obligatory upon you—and believing that by having ample lands and houses situated within a few miles of the center of population of the United States, you could do better work, and knowing that you are as skillful in managing that class of property as money, and, dear madam, the further fact that you have approved of one of your most trusted followers becoming the light of my own household; for all these reasons, I feel that your acceptance of this trust, will be a continuing benevolence, until great calamities shall cease to visit the earth; and my judgment leads me to desire that whatever ante-mortem offering I am able to dedicate to the stricken of the world shall be under your supervision. The tract of land I have the pleasure of offering to you for the home of The National Red Cross, is of more than one square mile in area, or specifically, 782 acres; and though not improved to the standard of excellence that I could wish for your sake, yet it has upon it a village, a post office, barns, tenant houses, orchards, forests, including groves of sugar maple, quarries of the famous Bedford Oolitic stone, a beautiful river frontage of one mile, and springs of excellent water. A trunk line of railway passes through it, three other lines of railway are near it; making it easily accessible for shipping purposes to all parts of the country.

For speedy transit it leaves little to be desired. It is three hours from Louisville, four hours from Cincinnati, four hours from Indianapolis, six hours from St. Louis, and seven hours from Chicago.

Should you accept this trust, perhaps as President, you would find it less trouble to appoint one person to act under your supervision, and permit me to appoint another; thus giving you two helpers, and relieving you of troublesome detail that could as well be delegated to others.

Perhaps other benevolent persons may discover that they may surely and economically assist in erecting such educational, charitable, or philanthropic edifices as you will observe the need of, for which abundant material of both wood and stone are on the grounds, and also assist in stocking its stables, parks and pastures, to meet the steady demands of benevolence, or of emergencies.

Should your other friends, such as know your work for stricken humanity, and believe in your methods of benevolence, and their name is legion, desire to find a place where their own benevolence may reach through all generations, I feel assured they will, of their abundance, gladly appropriate a portion to aid the gentle dews of Heaven to bring forth plenteous harvests of happiness.

Dear friend, God willing, you have seen the worst, and "at even tide there shall be light."

J. GARDNER.

A PLUCKY BOOTBLACK.

Undismayed by Hard Luck and Ready to Do His Best.

Dennis Shea's mother is dead. This fact has no significance in a city where hundreds of mothers die every week. Besides, Dennis' mother was very poor, consequently the funeral ceremonies were not largely attended. But Dennis feels her loss very keenly. He is the Tombs bootblack. To look at his cheerful face and to hear his cheery whistle you would not think that grief could dampen his spirits.

But Dennis had not whistled for a week. Lonely as is his station in life, this bootblack is a model for young men with a larger income. He has supported his mother and his sixteen-year-old sister with his meagre earnings for several years. They live in Park street and pay $6 per month rent.

When asked what he intended to do about his domestic affairs he said: "Well, now de ole woman is dead, I'm goin' to take care o' me sister meself. Naw, we aint a-goin' to move. I'm in a hole now, 'cause de undertaker swiped de boodle I had in de stockin', but maybe de sargents and de jidges'll give me a lift. I aint sure nor nothin'. Y'kin bet yer socks me sister'll have grub and shoes as long as I kin shine."

Imprisoned Elk.

One of the most singular occurrences ever noted in this portion of the State took place here this week as the result of the storm which has been raging in the mountains for the past four days, says a despatch from Steamboat Springs, Col., to the New York Sun. The fierce war of the elements drove a band of elk, numbering over 1,000 down from the hills on to a high mesa, thickly timbered, about twelve miles south of this place. They attempted to move further in order to gain the valley, but in so doing they were caught in the deep, crusted snow, where they floundered around, powerless to advance or retreat. Word of the event was soon passed and ranchmen from all quarters flocked to the spot, armed with shotguns and rifles.

But two animals were shot and those only to save lives of the men attacking them. A man would select a large bull elk, and walking toward it on the crust, which would sustain his weight, with a club cut from the neighboring timber would battle with the beast until a well-directed blow just below the antlers would stretch the creature dead. Many narrow escapes from the maddened animals are recorded. When enough game had been secured to supply the domestic wants of the ranchmen, a load of hay was skidded to the half-starved survivors of the band, which they ate ravenously.

The climax, however, came yesterday, when a ranchman (W. B. Moore) was called from his bed by the furious bellowing of his cattle. The elk had forced themselves from their temporary prison, and had attacked the haystacks in the valley, taking entire possession of the ranches of Messrs. Moore, Holman, Brown, Nichols, Helm & Co. and the Pleasant Valley Line Stock Company, and stampeding the cattle. After a consultation had been held, the ranchmen decided that to drive them off would mean starvation for the entire band, so the elk were rounded up by the firing of rifles and guns and driven into Jay Sea Park, where two companies of stockmen own hay, which they generously gave for the use of the animals and the future benefit of sportsmen.

The elk show a remarkable degree of tameness, and do not appear in the least disconcerted by the presence of the men who go to feed them. They crowd around the high corral, peering through the spaces in the logs, and anxiously awaiting the scattering of the loads. They are consuming about six tons a day, and conduct themselves much in the manner as the same number of range cattle would do.

Elk have been caught here in a similar manner before, but never in such large numbers, and the experiment of feeding is a decidedly novel one.

Notes of Interest from Different Parts of the State.

Aroostook.

There was cleared from the Custom House at Fort Fairfield, during the week ending February 11th, the following cars of freight, viz.: potatoes, 59; starch, 5; shingles, 11; hay, 6; bark, 2; lumber 1; horses, 1; miscellaneous, 6: total 101 cars.

Hancock.

Aaron Korinski, about twelve years old, who attends school in Ellsworth, was badly injured by being struck with a broom held by another member of the school. He was unconscious for two hours but will recover.

Kennebec.

Miss Kate Vannah, who is winning such high rank among musical composers, has recently completed seven songs and a "Rosalind" waltz. The latter is dedicated to her friend, Miss Ada Rehan, and will be brought out at Daly's theatre. Miss Vannah has just corrected final proof of her second volume of poems, "From Heart to Heart," which will be out by March 10 for Easter sales.

An English iron steamer is bound to the Kennebec with metal for the Sewall iron shipbuilding plant at Bath. The ship which this firm expects to commence on in the spring is to be of 2,500 tons.

Sagadahoc.

Some time this week the gunboat Machias will have her engines tested, and will make a trial trip on the Kennebec if preparations now under way can be completed. The spars are all in position, and although the heavy shields for the guns have not been received, a lighter metal of 5/8 steel has been put up, so that the craft can go in commission in the spring. Whenever the armor is ready it can easily be put in place of this lighter metal.

Mounted Buffalo.

There are a few more buffalo than the speaker in the following interview admits, but what he says is, nevertheless, of interest: "Yes, a buffalo ready for mounting is a pretty rare thing nowadays. I expect to get $800 for mine when mounted." So said Frederick Edwards, the taxidermist, to a Tacoma Ledger reporter. "I got this specimen from Bozeman, Mont. It is an extra good one, as the skin is complete. Buffalo robes can be had, of course, and attached to mounted heads, but in these manufactured specimens the long hair over the knees is wanting. This speciman was the last buffalo killed, and he was killed accidentally. As you probably know, the species is all but extinct.

"There is a herd of thirty or so in the Yellowstone Park, and to this this one belonged. He had escaped from the park and was being taken back tied behind a cart, when he got unruly and finally fell, breaking his neck. He was one of the finest bulls of the flock and was valued at thousands of dollars alive. I have a mounted head of a buffalo here, as you see. It is a fine one and is worth $350. It has been sold to George Vanderbilt, for whom I am making a collection. The buffalo I am going to send to the World's Fair. This black-tailed deer's head and these two mountain sheep, belong to Mr. Vanderbilt's collection too."

Speaking further of buffaloes, Mr. Edwards said: "There are only a few buffalo left, and they are all carefully looked after. At Salt Lake City there is a herd of ten or eleven. There are thirty or so in the Yellowstone Park, as I have said, and at Omaha there are ten thoroughbred and twenty-one half-breeds, crosses between the buffalo and cattle. The oldest buffalo bull is a savage tempered creature. He has been christened 'Devil,' and he lives up to his name. He killed his keeper a year ago. I shall send quite a collection of state animals to the World's Fair."

Superstition of Two Men.

The late Lord Clifden was firmly persuaded that no luck would ever befall him on the race course unless he wore a particular necktie, and Mr. Frank Popham, the owner of Wild Dayrell, would run back at full speed to avoid meeting a hearse.—London Tit-Bits.

A PROFITABLE BARGAIN.

A Main street lady spent a dime to good advantage, yesterday, when she bought a package of diamond dye fast black for wool. With this she revived the color of a Henrietta so that the gown now looks like new. These simple home dyes are very easy to use, and will color almost anything. Their standard shades are non-fading, and guaranteed not to crock.

When you feel all tired out and broken up generally, you need a good tonic. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the best. Try it.

A SOLDIER'S STORY.

"Given up to Die" by the Doctors.

He Thanks God for Sagwa and Prays for Its Success.

LEAVENWORTH, KANSAS, Aug. 15, 1892.

I deem it my duty to tender this my testimonial as an offer of gratitude for what "Kickapoo Indian Sagwa" has done for me. I came out of the army in the fall of '65, broken down by chronic dyspepsia in its worst form, and also enlargement of the heart. I consulted the best physicians, and visited institutions in the East, and one and all told me the same thing,—I never could get well.

By suggestion of an old comrade I took Kickapoo Indian Sagwa, and thank God for it. Sagwa has changed my life from misery and pain to one of health and gladness, and I can now eat anything without distress. My heart is all right and my friends are astonished.

The physician who knew of my case and heard of my cure said that a medicine that is capable of making such a cure, he not only endorses but cheerfully recommends to anyone.

If this testimonial comes under the notice of any soldier who is suffering, let him take the word of an old comrade,—buy a bottle of Indian Sagwa at once, and may God prosper you with the success of this remedy is the grateful prayer of Inflammation of the Bladder and Enlargement of Prostate Gland permanently cured.

We are in receipt of the following letter from Mr. H. N. Woodcock, a well-known and prominent citizen of Waldo County, Me.

Gentlemen:—For the benefit of suffering humanity I deem it my duty to say that for ... years I have been troubled with Inflammation of the Neck of the Bladder and Enlargement of the Prostate Gland, occasioning frequent passing water, and obliging me to be up frequent nights. My diseases, with broken rest and age seemed to be working together to drive me to my death. I tried our most prominent local physicians and many different medicines, but without any benefit whatever. Three bottles of Leon's Sarsaparilla completely cured me and I am now, at the age of 70 years, ... hearty. I consider Leon's Sarsaparilla the grandest medicine on earth.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 23, 1893

REPUBLICAN CAUCUSES.

The Republican voters of the City of Bangor are hereby notified to meet in caucuses at the CITY HALL,

THIS EVENING, February 23, 1893, at 7 o'clock P. M. for the purpose of nominating candidates for Mayor, Members elected from March 13, 1893.

WARD CAUCUSES

The voters are also requested to meet at the following places in the several wards on FRIDAY EVENING, February 24, 1893, at 7:30 o'clock to nominate candidates for Aldermen, Councilmen, School Committee and Ward Officers; also to elect a member of the Republican City Committee for each ward.

The order of the Republican City Committee is as follows, viz:

In Ward One, FAIRBANKS, Chairman
" " Two, C. M. FLETCHER, Secretary
" " Three, " " " "
" " Four, " " " "
" " Five, " " " "
" " Six, " " " "
" " Seven, " " " "

Caucus To-night.

In accordance with the call of the City Committee the Republicans of Bangor will meet in City Hall this night at half past seven o'clock to nominate candidates for Mayor. We hope to see a large attendance. Democrats may as well resign. The Democrats are already in the field with their candidate but with united action on the part of the Republicans in support of the party nominee there will be no question as to the result of the election next month.

The fact is we need not stop to say that it will be a matter of interest to the nominating committee that they should not keep the Republicans in mind. With the exception of the municipal election in the spring we never will have to vote so free from all political excitement as that of the present. We will all of us, that careful attention to the city's interests is of importance to us. Many of us are not to be influenced by any other consideration.

Vote to-day. Vote at the caucus. Help given to-day will be of full value to the interests of the city. We will doubtless be invited to do our own voting.

A Thorn in the Flesh

If New York does not intend that the Democrats shall forget their pledge to the people to revise the tariff on free trade lines, Mr. Dana will give point to the nomination of Cleveland but he was in the city and made the most forceful criticism of the party leaders that the election of this fall was a distinctively free trade victory on a free trade platform he now declares that there shall be no shirking of this on the part of those who desire to keep the party of the people in power. Mr. Dana will not stand by any other platform, even though it may be the Democratic platform.

Unless he is under duress he will not be able to keep silent. He has given the Democratic leaders full fair cause to believe that they will doubtless be invited to run their own show.

Cabinet Completed

It is predicted this morning announcement that Representative Herbert of Alabama is to be Secretary of the Navy. Mr. Herbert has obtained an intimate knowledge of the department. New England receives recognition in the selection of Richard Olney a Boston lawyer, as Attorney General.

Haste Caused by Delay on Unimportant Matters.

The Washington correspondent of the New York Tribune under date of February 20 writes: It is evident that Speaker Crisp has become exceedingly uneasy on account of the backward condition of business in the House of Representatives. In response to his suggestion and request, two of the general appropriation bills—carrying an aggregate or more of $24,000,000—were passed to-day under suspension of the rules. This great sum of money was voted after an hour of debate, and no opportunity whatever was allowed to offer amendments. The necessity of passing appropriation bills in this disorderly and improvident manner ought not to exist, and would not exist to-day but for the indolence and incapacity of the Democratic majority in the House, which has frittered away more time during the last six weeks than would have been required to consider and pass all the appropriation bills in an orderly and deliberate manner. As Mr. Boutelle well said in speaking to the Naval bill to-day, there would be even now no need of a resort to such methods if the House would consent to waste less time upon unimportant matters.

The first appropriation bill passed today was the Naval bill, which carries a total of $21,234,000. This is $3,850,000 less than the estimates submitted by Secretary Tracy and $2,300,000 less than the appropriations for the current fiscal year. The amount under the head "Increase of the Navy" is $6,900,000, and this includes no appropriation for armor plate. The only new vessel authorized is one light-draught gun-boat, to cost not exceeding $400 000.

In discussing the bill Mr. Boutelle criticised the failure of the committee to recommend that another battleship be authorized, and he asked unanimous consent to offer an amendment to effect that object, but of course a Democrat stood ready to object. Mr. Boutelle briefly reviewed the work of the last House in relation to the new Navy, and compared it with the work done by this House in the same regard. This comparison did not please Chairman Herbert, who replied with more fairness than the occasion seemed to demand.

His other appropriation bill passed today after thirty minutes debate, with no opportunity for amendment, was the Agriculture bill. Chairman Hatch became considerably annoyed in the course of that half hour. Mr. Dingley remarked on the absence of any item for ramie making experiments and wanted to know if the committee had reached the conclusion that such experiments were a failure. Chairman Hatch did not like to admit that, and said no more experiments would be made and that an unexpected balance of $6 000 of the former appropriation would be covered into the Treasury at the end of the fiscal year. Then Mr. McMillin was anxious to know whether the appropriations for sugar experiments were to be perpetual and that worried Mr. Hatch again.

In all the chaos Mr. Kilgore wanted to know if the bill did not contain a provision looking to the control of the adulterations of the country by the General Government. Chairman Hatch said that if the gentleman from Texas would read the bill he would not ask foolish questions. The chairman then read the provision appropriating $10 000 to enable the Department of Agriculture to investigate the subject of oleomargarine and disseminate information in relation thereto. He referred to the "Good Ponds" Convention recently held in Washington and the gentle Texan spoke of its members as "cranks." This provoked a retort from Hatch which was more severe than polite and Kilgore asked "Will you not take out that provision in consideration of getting your bill through to-night without trouble?"

Hatch both replied "Not one item or word will I cut out of the bill on account of your threats."

Gorman Buck shouted the Texan's backers but he only moved to adjourn and his motion was drowned in a chorus of nays. The bill was then passed, but it required a roll call to do it.

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately-flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.

AN IMPORTANT DECISION

Rendered by Attorney General on the Calais Bank Case.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22. The Attorney General has given an important opinion to the Secretary of the Treasury in regard to the State bank note tax. It appears that the Calais National Bank, Calais, Me., received from depositors and others and paid out on checks and otherwise, in the ordinary course of business, notes issued by the Bank of St. Stephen, a corporation in New Brunswick, issuing its own bills and circulating and paying them out as currency.

It is stated that these bills were redeemable in gold and silver, in good credit, standing as circulating medium, and large quantities went into circulation along the northern border of the United States. The question is whether the bank of Calais is liable for a tax of ten per cent. on the amount of notes circulated under the provisions of the United States laws relative to the issue of State banks.

The Attorney-General decided that the fact that the notes were those of a bank chartered by a foreign province or state can make no difference, nor does the fact that they are not redeemable in any way in the United States. Such notes are equally within the prohibition intended by Congress in the legislation referred to.

MAINE LEGISLATURE.

The Governor's Reception a Most Pleasant Occasion.

Governor Cleaves Gives All Comers Hearty Welcome.

But Few New Measures Presented on Wednesday.

[Special to Whig and Courier.]

AUGUSTA, Feb. 22. The Governor's reception to-day was of a most enjoyable and pleasant nature and, notwithstanding the severe storm, was well attended. Governor Cleaves received his callers in a most courteous, hearty and agreeable manner. The State House had been handsomely decorated for the occasion. At 3 o'clock the members of the Legislature filed in in a body to pay their respects to the Chief Magistrate. Many ladies were present and the Governor's staff presented a fine appearance in their new uniforms. A number of distinguished people called during the day.

A large amount of routine work was done by the Legislature to-day. Only a few measures were presented to-day. Among them were the following:

One to allow State Assessors to abate taxes; one, by Senator Wiggin, to raise the school fund on a different basis, by reducing the per capita tax from 60 to 45 cents and increasing the mill tax from one mill to 1 3-4 mills.

Rev. Dr. Fenn, Rev. Dr. Dalton and eight others of Portland, protest against the druggists' bill.

Arthur Sewall, Thomas W. Hyde, Edward C. Morse and many other prominent men of Bath, petitioned for a savings bank tax discriminating in favor of home investments.

Many remonstrances were received against the repeal of the conspiracy act.

The bill abolishing the Aroostook Supreme Court was passed to be engrossed.

The World's Fair appropriation of $17,500 was reported favorably; also, the resolve appropriating $1,500 for the Castine Normal School; also, the bill providing that pupils of suitable private schools be excused from attending public schools.

The bill requiring schools receiving public money to be under public management and that English be taught therein, was referred back to the committee after much discussion. It was said that it would seriously effect the French schools in Aroostook county.

Mrs. John W. Chase, of Augusta; Mrs. C. W. Coffin, of Bangor; Mrs. N. M. Drew, of Fort Fairfield, and Mrs. Wm. S. White, of Rockland, gave a delightful whist party at the Augusta House. Refreshments were served during the evening. The first prize was won by Mrs. C. A. Paine, of Eastport, and Mr. J. R. Plummer, of Houlton. The second prize went to Mrs. Sturgis, of Augusta, and Mr. C. A. McCullough, of Calais.

No one on the express train was injured, but the engine was damaged slightly.

The killed and wounded were confined to the third car of the accommodation.

Four persons are known to have been killed Of the fifteen injured none was dangerously hurt.

ALL A "FAKE."

Murderer Coy Made no Attempt at Suicide—Fast Breaking Down.

PITTSFIELD, Mass., Feb. 22. The sensational story concerning the attempt at suicide by murderer Coy in the morning papers, caused quite a stir in this community. The story is entirely without foundation, Coy having made no attempt to cheat the gallows. The news of the refusal of the supreme court to grant the writ of error in his case was told Coy this morning. He is more nervous and depressed than at any time since his arrest. In fact he is fast breaking down and the officers fear a scene at the execution Friday. The scaffold will be placed in position to-morrow.

GETTING UNEASY.

Switchmen in Chicago Go On Strike.

CHICAGO, Feb. 22. A very uneasy feeling prevails among the switchmen in this city and a strike on all the roads soon is not improbable. The men employed on the Belt line this morning demanded an increase in wages amounting to nearly 25 per cent. The officials of the company informed the men that they were not unfriendly to a moderate advance.

Later—Switchmen Go on Strike.

All the switchmen in the yards of the Chicago and Western Indiana Belt Company struck this evening for better pay. The trains on the several roads are unable to move.

Later—At 10 the police in the yards were reinforced by a detachment of Pinkertons and the force of detectives in the employ of the road. The detectives and watchmen began work on the switches. All trains which should have gone out early last evening were made up and the last was sent out by midnight.

FIVE LIVES LOST.

By the Wreck of the Barge Reliance.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Feb. 23. It is now learned that five lives were lost in the wreck of the barge Reliance on Block Island on Monday, the Captain, his wife and the three men who composed the crew. The Captain's little daughter, who was supposed to have been on the craft on account of the presence of toys among the wreckage, did not go on the trip and is safe at home in Somerville, Conn.

A BIG BLAST.

Grand Battle of the Elements on Wednesday.

Many States Felt the Effects of the Blizzard.

Trains Blockaded and Roads Made Impassable.

WATERBURY, Conn., Feb. 22. At noon the snow fall amounted to eight or ten inches. It is still falling, at times in heavy squalls, and occasionally changes to hail. The wind is little a short of a gale and the snow drifts badly. The New England road is demoralized.

A Blizzard in Vermont.

VERGANNES, Vt., Feb. 22. Since 8 o'clock A. M. a perfect blizzard has prevailed here, the wind blowing from the north. The roads are blocked and business is generally suspended. Drifts in the streets are fourteen feet deep.

Business Tied Up.

LOWELL, Mass., Feb. 22. Fifteen inches of snow fell here up to noon. Business is tied up. The electric car men worked all night to keep the tracks open, but at 8 o'clock this morning gave up their efforts. The cars are blocked along the various routes. The horses pulled them to the stations. The storm will be more disastrous than the March blizzard four years ago. It is still snowing and drifting and a northeast wind prevails.

All Trains Late.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Feb. 22. The storm struck here shortly after 9 o'clock last night and was one of the most disagreeable of the winter, snow, rain and hail falling alternately all day. All the trains on the several divisions of the Consolidated railroad are late. Neither of the two New York boats arrived at 1 o'clock. Both the horse and electric cars are badly effected by the storm.

Storm Increases in Severity.

WORCESTER, Mass., Feb. 22. This afternoon the storm increased in severity, and the temperature took a slight drop. Passenger trains are from one to two hours late from the West. The snow has begun to drift.

Trains Cancelled—Many People Without Lights.

DOVER, N. H., Feb. 22. No such storm as that of to-day has visited this section since March, 1888. To-day eighteen inches of snow has fallen and the wind was blowing forty miles an hour, and piled the snow in drifts ten feet high. The trains were all double headers and were over an hour late. All trains on the Dover & Winnipesaukee railroad were cancelled at noon. Collier's "Hose and Hoss" company, booked for the Opera House here this evening, got as far as Rochester and will have to stay there to-night. The Cocheco mills shut down at 5 to allow the operators to go home before dark. The company sent many home in teams. Many people are without lights to-night. All kerosene used here comes from Somersworth, and as none has been delivered here for three days, the supply of the storekeepers has run out. All freight trains over the railroads were cancelled.

Travel Delayed.

HAVERHILL, Mass., Feb. 22. To-day's storm was far worse than any since the storm of March 7, 1888. A perfect blizzard prevailed, piling the snow everywhere into drifts, stopping and delaying travel on the steam and street railways and rendering the highways almost impassable. About eighteen inches of snow has fallen.

Fearful Night at Sea.

PROVINCETOWN, Mass., Feb. 22. The wind has shifted to the northwest, increasing to a gale, with blinding snow tonight, which will make it a fearful night on the water. Race Point life station reports nothing in sight when the snow shut in.

Trains Abandoned.

ALBANY, N. Y., Feb. 22. All the regular trains on the Boston & Albany railroad have been abandoned.

Terrible Gale Raging.

CHATHAM, Mass., Feb. 22. The terrible southeast gale with snow and rain this morning shifted to the westerly this afternoon. An unknown lumber loaded three masted schooner was discovered by the life saving patrol close under Chatham bar, at 7 A. M., dragging slowly toward the bar, over which the fierce breakers are running. Distress signals are flying in the rigging, but no boat could get to her, as she was beyond the outer bar, and no line could be shot such a distance. The Chatham and Monomoy life saving crews were at the scene and her destruction seemed inevitable as the gale is terrific and the sea is fearfully rough.

The crew took to the rigging, showing that the vessel was filling with water, and the seas are running all over her. Just as she was almost on the bar there came a lull in the gale, but soon it came blowing fiercely from the westward, causing the schooner to swing around off shore, just in time to escape going to pieces on the bar. She remained at anchor at sunset.

The wind was blowing a hurricane from the northwest and is growing cold fast. The crew came out of the rigging and manned the pumps, trying to keep the vessel free.

It is thought to be the same schooner which anchored outside Sunday night, and rode out Monday's gale after drifting several miles out to the southeastward and in trying to get under way last night drifted down to her present position, and got caught in the bight north of Pollock Rip and could not extricate herself after the gale came on. Tug Argus was outside at dark, heading for the schooner. The first name of the latter is, "William", and it is thought it may be the William Flint, of Waldoboro, Maine.

Snow Piled High.

CHESTER, Vt., Feb. 22. Eighteen inches of snow fell to-day and to-night the wind is blowing a gale, piling the snow into huge drifts, making the trains four to six hours late. The country roads are completely blocaded.

Trains Couldn't Get Through the Notch.

LANCASTER, N. H., Feb. 22. Fully a foot of light snow has fallen since morning. The trains on the railroads are delayed several hours. The afternoon mail from Portland was cancelled, being unable to get through the White Mountain Notch. This evening the wind is blowing a gale, piling the snow in huge drifts. Travel in the back districts was almost entirely suspended from Monday's storm, and will be wholly so from to-day's.

Snowing all Day.

SOUTH FRAMINGHAM, Mass., Feb. 22. It has been snowing all day and continues to-night. Travel is at a standstill.

Severe Storm.

PITTSFIELD, Mass., Feb. 22. The storm continues to rage with great severity and more than two feet of snow has fallen since last night. The Housatonic railroad is blocked. The Boston & Albany moved trains one to six hours late. The wind is blowing to-night and serious trouble is impending from the drifting snow. Road communication with surrounding towns is cut off and all the roads are piled full.

No Shipping Disasters.

GLOUCESTER, Mass., Feb. 22. A violent northeast snow storm with a heavy gale has prevailed all day, and continues unabated. The streets are flocked with snow and travel is impeded. No accidents to shipping anywhere on Cape Ann are reported.

Trains Out of Kilter.

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Feb. 22. No storm has visited this section for years which has delayed railroad traffic so badly as the heavy northeaster which commenced this morning and continued through the day. Highways were filled with snow and were almost impassable to teams. A heavy sea is running but no disasters are reported.

The Drifts Growing Larger.

Favored by Neuman if Protectorate is Not Feasible.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22. Secretary of State Foster sent to-day to the chairman of the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations the statement which Paul Neuman left at the Department yesterday, accompanied with a report of the interview with the secretary.

From the latter it appears that the object of Mr. Neuman's visit to Washington is to secure the restoration of Queen Liliuokalani to the throne under an American protectorate.

He does not advise her restoration under any other circumstances. PLEASANT TEA PARTY.

Martha Washington Receives at the Memorial Parlors.

The Martha Washington Tea Party at the Unitarian Memorial Parlors last evening was another of the very pleasant social events which frequently occur at that place and it was much enjoyed by a goodly number who did not allow the storm to keep them away. It was an old-fashioned gathering and the programmes were arranged in accordance with the time of Martha Washington.

At 6.30 Rev. S. C. Beach made some humorous and very interesting remarks, giving the true history of Martha Washington, and it was a most interesting opening of the party. At the close of Rev. Mr. Beach's prelude the curtain went up disclosing "Lady Martha Washington," Mrs. C. W. Roberts; "Mrs. Chief Justice Cushing," Mrs. M. C. Stilwell; "Mrs. Alexander Hamilton," Mrs. Henry McLaughlin; "Mrs. Sedgwick," Mrs. G. W. Stevens; "Mrs. Adams," Mrs. Gilbert Howell, and "Parke Custis," Clarence Stetson. The ladies then held a reception, the guests receiving most cordial greeting.

At 7 o'clock a delicious supper was served. A number of young lady waiters besides the ladies above mentioned wore ancient and very becoming costumes.

At 8 o'clock a musical programme was begun and finely rendered songs by Mrs. Potter, Miss Jewell, Mr. G. S. Silsby and Mr. G. T. Moody, the church choir, closing with "America" were much enjoyed by the audience. Miss Mae Silsby played the accompaniments with her customary skill.

After the music the remainder of the evening was devoted to dancing and it was most pleasingly indulged in by all. Gen. C. W. Roberts was floor manager. There were eight dances on the order and Mr. George E. Cushing furnished excellent music. The entire evening was one of much pleasure for all present.

HENRY GEORGE HILL.

A Former Bangor Citizen in Argentine.

A paper of the Argentine Republic contains the following notice of the late Henry G. Hill, formerly of this city, of the firm of Hill & Farris, and brother of Mrs. Charles Hight, of this city, which will be interesting to his many old friends in this vicinity:

Mr. Henry George Hill, of the firm of Hill & Thomas, proprietors of the Carcarana flouring mills, whose sudden death from appoplexy we chronicled a few days ago, was born in 1821, in the town of Exeter, State of Maine, a State which has furnished the River Plate with a number of men eminent in commerce.

Early in life he became associated with Mr. Thomas in several milling enterprises in the western part of the States, and together, some twenty years ago, they came to the Argentine Republic and some time after began the construction of the first Carcarana flour mill, which by additions and improvements grew to be the largest and most important enterprise in the country.

Mr. Hill was an extreme Conservative by nature and education; none of the alluring persuasions of friends; none of the temptations of suddenly acquiring wealth, could induce him to venture into the wild field of speculation through which the country passed a few years ago. To him the careful management of his business enterprise was a matter of sufficient importance to demand all his attention and capital, and the eminent success he achieved justified his decision.

He was a man of rather retiring nature, of a studious mind, and in his own home extended a genial hospitality to his friends and acquaintances which will be pleasantly remembered for its quiet unassuming cordiality and modest, courteous cheerfulness. Here he was always ready to welcome his friends, and if he was devoted to his favorite enterprise it was to the end that he might confer on his family and visitors the delight of a model home and enjoy the relaxation to which his work in the world justly entitled him.

Of unimpeachable integrity of character, unflinching honesty, his life was above reproach, and his death within a few weeks of that of his partner, and almost life-long associate, gave a touch of pathos to an alliance singularly rare in the prosaic partnerships of men of affairs.

His loss to the town of Carcarana, and the province of Santa Fe, will be materially felt, and the memory of his upright and pure life will not be without its lasting influence for good. All who knew him mourn and deeply sympathize with his bereaved family in their great affliction.

INSTRUCTION TO VOTERS

For the Australian Ballot System to be Used at the Mayoralty Election.

The following instructions to voters have been arranged for use at the Mayoralty election in March and will be posted in each booth and outside the railing in each voting place, so that every voter may consult them:

Give your name to the ballot clerk, and your residence, if he asks for it.

How to Mark Your Ballot.

Having received a ballot, go into one of the voting booths, and mark your ballot.

If you want to vote a straight ticket make an X in the large square at the right of the name of your party, at the top of the ballot, and do not make any other mark on it.

If you do not want to vote a straight ticket, do not make a mark in any of the large squares at the top, but make an X in the small square at the right of the name of each person you wish to vote for.

If you want to vote for some person whose name is not on the ballot, write his name under the names of the other candidate for the office you want him to have, and make a X at the right of his name.

Do not scratch out a name.

If you spoil a ballot, return it to the ballot clerk and get another. You cannot have more than three in all, and only one at a time.

After marking your ballot, fold it as it was folded when you received it, and keep it so folded until you place it in the ballot box.

Do not show any one how to mark his ballot or how you have marked yours.

Go to the ballot box and give your name to the Warden.

Deposit your ballot in the ballot box, with the name of the City Clerk uppermost.

No assistance shall be given to any voter, unless he declares (under oath, if required) that he cannot read, or is blind, or is physically unable to mark his ballot.

Application for assistance must be made to the Warden, and, if granted, the voter may select one or more of the election officers to assist him.

VICTOR BRETT,
City Clerk.

BLIZZARD NO. 2

Right on the Track of Monday's Storm.

The snow of Monday's storm had not got settled into place when another blizzard swung into line yesterday. It began snowing and blowing between 8 and 9 o'clock and it kept up all day at a record breaking gait which would seem to indicate that the storm king is now right on his muscle.

Two such wild days almost in succession are rarely experienced. Not as much snow fell as on Monday, but nearly a foot was added to that which previously came and as the wind blew like sixty the drifts which were already piled high in many places in the country roads, grew still bigger.

The Moosehead stage did not appear in the city at all yesterday but the others all came in. The Corinth and Eddington stages started out on the return and it is presumed that they got there as nothing further was heard from them. The Bradford and Exeter stage drivers decided not to battle with the storm and did not start out on the return.

The trains were considerably interfered with. The noon train from the west was nearly an hour late and the Flying Yankee from the east was fully an hour behind time. The evening train from St. John was forty minutes late. The evening western train had one of the hardest times in its experience, being over 7 hours late. All freight trains on the Maine Central were cancelled yesterday.

Work on the street car line was kept up all day and the cars were enabled to run over part of the line, but not regularly. The track will soon be clear.

The western train, which usually arrives here at 6.30 P. M., did not make its appearance until about a quarter before 2 o'clock this morning, seven and a quarter hours late.

AMUSEMENTS.

At The Norombega

"Nugget Nell" was the play given last night at The Norombega by the Wallace Hopper Dramatic Co., which is playing a week's engagement at popular prices, and it was received with favor by the audience. The play this evening will be the long successful drama "Hazel Kirke."

Touching Note Left by Dr Evans

Dr. W. S. Wilson yesterday found upon the instrument case of his late partner, Dr. Philander Evans, a note containing a few lines written by Dr. Evans, probably his last day in his office, characteristic of him and showing his belief in a future life. The note was as follows: "On account of failing health and having had too many birthdays, I have concluded to retire from the profession that I have liked and despised at the same time, and await smilingly the fulfillment of nature's divine law, through which I believe a higher life may be reached and a new field of usefulness opened."

Municipal Lighting

A recent number of the Review of Reviews contains an exhaustive article on municipal lighting, the figures being actual and not estimated ones. From the expenses incurred by the cities contained in this list it appears that the average yearly cost per light of 2,000 candle power is $53.64, many of these using steam, and there is not a single instance when the cost reaches $100 per year. Not only this, but these figures take no account of the income which these plants receive for lighting other than that of the streets, Stanton, Vt., for instance, deriving a revenue from this source almost equal to the entire cost of operating the whole plant; while Hannibal, Mo., draws an income of $4,000 from rented lamps. These are facts, not estimates.

In these lists three Maine cities appear, viz.: Bath—31 arc lights, $125 per year, (average). Lewiston (the city owns the plant) 180 lights, $55 per year. Bangor, also owning the plant, runs 140 lights at a cost of $45 per year for each. Ypsilanti, which put in a plant for herself at a cost of $24,000, is now able to run 80 arc lamps of 2000 candle power at a yearly cost of but $24 each. Bath pays $150 for her all night lamps.

A MINISTER'S WRITING.

Dr. Talmage Graphically Describes the Mad Struggle for Success.

"Men and women are being driven to destruction he says, through excesses in work and living—Fearful picture of a midnight scene in a millionaire's household—Riches unable to brighten a wretched life

There are few men in America who are so well known as Dr Talmage of the Brooklyn Tabernacle He weekly addresses through the news-papers nearly 30 000 000 people, who are impressed by what he says, because it is he result of continuous observation and deep study

Dr Talmage has again and again called attention to a danger that menaces every man and woman in this country In a recent sermon he once more repeats those words of warning In speaking of the sins of over work in business or social duties, he says

"Oh, what an ally what a sacrifice of body mind and soul The physical health of a great multitude is flung on this sacrificial altar They cannot sleep and they take chloral and morphine and intoxicants

Some of them struggle in nightmare of stocks and at one o'clock in the morning suddenly rise up shouting, 'Three hundred shares of railroad stock—one hundred and eight and a half take it quick the whole family is all right!' and the speculators fall back on their pillows and sleep until they are awakened again by a cheer on a sudden rise in some thing else Their nerves gone their digestion gone their brain gone they die

At first the night the description seem overdrawn But I fear we are not to witness it sometime Do we not exhaust rapidly Do we get the pleasure of life that we should If there not a misery which we call multi life caused by thinking that the success is made by Dr Talmage could investigation reveal all reporter has collected the following facts which will be found of great interest Mrs W Whiting well known in connection with red Cross work died at the residence of Dr Lansing said Wednesday

"Yes we do live too rapidly We use and accumulate wealth but we exhaust our brain and our life over the American spends the first half of his life acquiring wealth and the second half he spends his wealth to regain his health I know this from my own experience He gave it which did these nearly killed me A few years ago I was on some trouble in my throat and after several doctors had failed to find it I then did feel that my life was in danger What Imperfect Health now Yes I am I save my strength use good judgment and take Warner's Safe Cure regularly I am not ashamed to say that I rather stood on it I have found it to be a disposition able to my health and happiness Do I work Yes hard every day and I believe all American men can do the same thing regardless of the climate competition or social demand if they will act upon my suggestion

Mr Edward Brewer the builder and member of the N Y Stock Exchange whose name is touched upon this report and "Any one who has ever been on the New York Stock Exchange or has witnessed the amount of mental pressure there which involves does not need to be told that Americans live rapidly and extravagantly Our men and women live too fast great wealth is gained by Europeans but in this country by working hard they learn to live and prepare to die I think its expression that Warner's Safe Cure is an excellent combination

Mr A Harvey DD Wedding in D C Chrisfields made the following statement I take pleasure in stating that I have for many years been acquainted with the well known Warner's Safe Cure and with its remarkable curative effect In some cases of sickness which seem to be in the last stages and which had been given up by practitioners of both schools the cure was brought about by this remedy seemed but little less than miraculous

An interesting experience was related by Mrs Nellie No 10 East Eighteenth Street Five years ago she still I became run down by sickness which finally ended in kidney disease I was daily placed under a steam apparatus for hours at a time without effect several physicians attended me and tried all known methods to cure me to prescribe Dutchard consumable about a remedy that I often recommended to others and finally began to use it Its fifty did work wonders in my case and I will not be without it for thousands of dollars I feel it a privilege to gratefully mention the name of Warner's Safe Cure that I owe my recovery

GARDENS OF SIDON.

SCENES OF RARE BEAUTY IN THE OLD PHŒNICIAN CITY

An Ancient City Noted For Its Many Groves and Gardens—Phœnicia as She Appears Today—The Dress of Its People Their Garments and Their Arms.

The dewdrops glittered in the light of the just rising sun, and the air was heavy with sweet odors of hundreds of orange and lemon trees with white blossoms. The scene was a picture of marvelous fertility Orange thickets yellow and white with their double burden of fruit and flowers lemon, apricot and fig trees, interspersed with the more tropical palm and date, all growing in the greatest luxuriance At times we saw the queer shaftlike leaves of the banana often 30 feet in length An occasional mulberry orchard explained the presence of an enterprising silk manufactory near by Every few yards little brooks babbled along the absolute essential of this luxuriance

It is not strange that this paradise of flowers and fruit is much frequented by the inhabitants of the crowded dirty town No one can ride through these fair gardens and fail to perceive why the worship of the old Sidonians was so closely connected with the grove and how from pictures rich profusion about them they learned to worship the deity of fertility which was the essence of their religion The ancient Sidon, too was not crowded down close by the sea but was situated further back in the plain and thus was encircled by a ring of emerald

On the outskirts of the garden we came to the catacombs of old Sidon which have been excavated by the French In the soft limestone rock extend long series of connected chambers which have contributed a few rude statues several sarcophagi and mummies to the very few mementos which we have of that enterprising people who secured their alphabet in Egypt and carried it to Greece and thus transmitted with certain changes the letters with which we communicate our 19th century ideas More of the aesthetic art of Phœnicia is to be seen today in Athens than in all Palestine There in the Mycenæ room one can see the rich inlaid daggers the beautiful ornaments and the facsimiles of the Homeric cups which were also manufactured by these artisans of oriental antiquity to grace the temple of Solomon at Jerusalem Every ruin of that ancient world whether in Phœnicia or not when had I are bears ample testimony to the skill and enterprise of this Semitic nation of traders

Leaving these old tombs and the thoughts that they inspired we were soon studying Phœnicia as she appears today On our left extended the Lebanon range, while in the distance rose Mount Hermon, clad in snow glistening like Pearl beside marble in the midday sun On the right was the blue sea in to which we ere long took a plunge Before us the narrow bridle path extended, now through fertile although only half cultivated fields now over a rocky promontory which often jutted into the sea Habitations were rare and generally huddled together for protection against the Arab incursions

On the highways we often met the modern representatives and probable descendants of the ancient Midianites Tall muscular fellows with the dark Semitic countenance and black beard clad with the striped abba square piece of goat hair cloth folded and well above the shoulders the chief garment of the patriarchs and the mantle of Elijah the Tishbite Underneath they wore the kimbez the long flowing tunic which appeared when they threw back their abbas About their heads was tightly wrapped the silken keffiyeh crowned with the two heavy goat hair cords which encircled the tops of their heads like a large, black serpent About the waist was tightly bound the girdle adorned with huge, odd shaped knives or if he be a civilized Arab with pistols

An ugly looking spear 15 or 20 feet long completed the outfit an outfit well calculated to engender green envy in the heart of an American cowboy A half hour's detour enabled us to visit the bluest spot of Kedar, the abode of these permanent campers out It is a rectangular cabin 15 or 20 feet long supported on poles which 40 or 50 centuries of inhospitable experience has taught them to skillfully place at exactly the right angle The palace of thickly woven goat hair cloth is held in position by strong guy ropes The sides are raised or lowered at will according to the position of the sun or the direction of the wind

Within a curtain separates the woman's apartment from the common reception room The cooking outfit of the dwelling is characterized by its severe simplicity since fortunately the Arab does not demand a three course dinner and long years of practice have taught him to dispense with a supply of dishes which is generally more than one for a family —Chicago Inter Ocean

Altogether Too Much Pepper

A man was appointed superintendent of a Sunday school mainly against his own desire He had been never profane, worldly man in his early life but had experienced religion and had attempted to reform in every way When the appointment of superintendent of the Sunday school was suggested he demurred He was afraid he might lapse in to profanity or into some of his old ways. But he was finally urged and persuaded to take the position He felt it very well until one night he was asked to pray for the poor of the parish He said O Lord help the poor They need it Help Jones and his family are hungry and they need fuel Send them a barrel of flour Send them a barrel of pepper Blazes that's too much pepper '—New York World

John Nihil's Brave Deed

An old comrade of mine Sergeant John Nihil, attached to the United States cavalry was out with a scouting party and they were surprised by a party of Indians four times their number They exchanged shots with them, wheeled about and made for camp some miles distant

The Indians continued firing, and finally one of the white men was hit and fell from his horse Quick as a flash Nihil dismounted, dropped on his knee and fired at the foremost Indian, bringing him to the ground. Jumping up he placed his wounded comrade across his horse, jumped up behind him, and by keeping up a continual fire at his pursuers carried him into camp Congress awarded Nihil a medal and also a certificate setting forth the facts of his heroism He was he champion shot of the army for several years, his left breast being decorated with medals to the value of $700, but these are his prizes most is the simple one of bronze awarded by congress.

John is very modest and as brave as a lion, and as such he is regarded by his comrades at Willets Point —Cor New York Press

A New Game In Paris.

There is in Paris a game called drawing room confidences, which consists in the presentation to each guest of a little album containing a series of questions on one's personal character, tastes and predilections, to be answered in writing The game is certainly not new. It used to be very familiar in London and the provinces some years ago, and perhaps it still lingers here and there in certain English drawing rooms.—London Letter.

How Gluck Composed.

Of Gluck it is said that when he felt himself in a humor to compose he called his pianoforte carried into a beautiful meadow, where, with a bottle of champagne on either side of him, he was able to do justice to his muse.—Harper's Bazar.

RIGID ECONOMY AND HARD LABOR.

How One Boston Merchant Became Rich and Influential.

"It would be well for the young men of today to take my recipe for becoming prosperous," said Mr John Shepard the other day as he sat before his little desk in an upper story of his great dry goods house on Winter street. 'I began life at the very bottom rung of the ladder, but with a determination that I would succeed if such a thing were possible with the talent that I possessed Early in life I came to the conclusion that economy was the first great essential in establishing a fortune, and that labor was the second I banished from my mind all other considerations when I began to work upon the road that I felt sure would lead to the goal of which I was in search.

'I remember very distinctly going down Marshall street one day and having my attention attracted by a most tempting display in a confectioner's window I had what is known as a very sweet tooth and I brought up standing before the sweet collection as if suddenly arrested by some irresistible force My hand immediately found its way to the pocket that carried my meager hoardings and before I really knew what I was doing I had invested 2 cents in that confection When I got back into the street, I began to have a full realization of what I had done, and it is safe to say that no candy ever entered a boy's mouth that was so little relished as was my bitter scotch I regretted that investment for years and whenever the temptation again came upon me while passing the store I put it away instantly

Keeping close to this line of strict economy I found myself at last in a position to go into business Then however I commenced to feel that capital alone was powerless in the attainment of success unless it was seconded by untiring labor Here also I met all the necessary requirements, frequently devoting 20 hours of the 24 to my business Gradually I found that I was amassing a fortune and finally I established a house which now bears my name After I had accomplished what I started out to do there came over me an entire change I had no aspirations to become a millionaire wealthy

All that I wanted was a safe guarantee against possible disaster in the future I devoted a portion of my time to the enjoyment of life believing that I had earned my right to do so No sir there is no use in filling a boy's head with all the new fangled ideas of getting rich as they are not practical Economy and labor are the only elements that enter in to the great plan of success for business life —Boston Herald

Pet Economies.

At dinner the other evening every one was asked to state truthfully what were his or her pet economies and the result was very amusing each person being convicted of some small meanness which contrasted oddly enough with his or her style of living 'I must confess I can never resist helping myself to candy' said one 'I simply hate them and if they look at all disposed to take quite an interest in I see a well grown boy friend's house

Then a rabbit for the servants' dinner was suggested by another of the company while a third cunningly in her lovely Rembrandt way hid for fear it would be given to her mamma to make rubber bands. Whenever I find one of my chair tilting I always light my cigar in the old match it possible, and invariably row the servants if they buy too many —New York Tribune

Effect of Music on Animals

At the zoo the zebra will pass deaf and ostrich went into paroxysms of rage at the sound of the piccolo although they had manifested various signs of pleasure over the violin and flute The tiger was asleep and refused to be awakened by the fiddler and flutist But when the man with the piccolo began to play the animal sprang furiously to its feet and rushed angrily up and down the cage, lashing its tail So extreme was the beast's anguish that the piccolo man speedily gave place to the flutist The difference in effect was at once apparent The tiger stopped, listened, lay down and purred like a kitten in its enjoyment of the grateful sounds, and presently fell asleep in luxurious repose —London Spectator

The Daily Dinner In Some Houses

In no way has the spirit of the times brought more change than in the dinner hour and costume The grandfathers of the present generation thought 6 o'clock a late hour to dine but now 7 30 is considered early The master should also don his dress suit although the Tuxedo coat in one's own house is allowable The mistress dresses as though for ball the only difference being in the material which is plainer, and the jewels which are not worn Finally the same rule must be observed in serving the dinner as at table when a number of guests are present —Vogue

Simple diet is best for many dishes bring many diseases and rich sauces are worse than even bringing several meats on a plate —Pliny

Are you drowsy, dull and languid?

Is a bad taste in your mouth, and

Is your tongue coated furred and coated?

Is your sleep with bad dreams broken?

Do you feel downhearted, dismal,

Dread something, what, you know not?

Then be very sure you're bilious—

That you have a torpid liver, and what you need is something to rouse it and make it active enough to throw off the impurities that clog it; something to invigorate the debilitated system, and help all the organs to perform the duties expected of them, promptly and energetically. "It is "something" is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, the great Blood Purifier, which its proprietors have such faith in that they guarantee it to cure. If it does not, your money will be refunded. But it will. Buy it, try it, and be convinced of its wonderful power. If the proof of the pudding is in the eating, the proof of this remedy is in the taking.

The Great Blood and Nerve Remedy.

Worn-out, "run-down," feeble women, need Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It builds them up. It's a powerful, restorative tonic, or strength giver—free from alcohol and injurious drugs. The entire system is renewed and invigorated. It improves digestion, enriches the blood, dispels aches and pains, gives refreshing sleep, and restores flesh and strength. As a soothing nervine, it allays and subdues hysteria, spasms, and all the nervous symptoms commonly attendant upon functional and organic disease. It's the only guaranteed medicine for women. It does what is promised—or it asks nothing. It gives satisfaction, in every case, or the money paid for it is refunded.

That's the way its makers prove their faith in it. Contains no alcohol to inebriate; no syrup or sugar to derange digestion; a legitimate medicine, not a beverage. Purely vegetable and perfectly harmless in any condition of the system.

IN THE PORTRAIT GALLERY.

Grandfather looks from the paneled wall
At grandmother hanging across the hall
In the ripened glow of her stately grace
And a frown comes over her shadowed face
As he says "The world has grown askew
My dear since we were young we two

"Nothing that was is the same today
Old time fancies are cast away
All our scruples are laughed to scorn
All our customs are quite outworn
Each is seeking for something new—
We were content with the old—we two"

Into the shade of the grim old room
Steal two forms through the twilight a gloom
Grandfather's eyes are sharp to see
And a deep voice utters tenderly
"Dear eye will I love and love but you
And will follow love to the end—we two"

Grandfather's face has lost its frown
And his eyes grown softer gaze gently down
On the pair who naught of his watching know
And gran'mother smiles and whispers low,
"Oh the things goes on as it used to do
In the days when we were young—we two"
—Mrs Lennox in Ladies Home Journal

Odd Jobs a Specialty.

The latest thing devised to lessen the labor of living and the cares of a housekeeper is a corporation known as the Odd Job and Tinkering company, limited The parent office of the concern is naturally enough in New York but according to its prospectus it has, or will have, subsidiary companies in all the large cities

It is a charming idea—this odd job company—and the man who originated the scheme deserves a vote of thanks for his ingenuity Though I united in its publication its scope of usefulness is not curtailed but is as limitless as human wants can possess

If Mary takes it into her head to visit her cousin on wash day and remains absent for a week a postal card to the odd job company at once brings a substitute who will perform all the multitudinous duties of the down stairs girl with exposition and dispatch And so it goes on through every department of the household

"Just send a postal card" says the advertisement calling attention to the company "and we will do the rest" The remainder as further specified includes housecleaning painting mason and locksmithing work clerical work and miscellaneous work and other things too numerous to mention but all of the greatest importance in the economy of living in a well appointed house —New York Herald

Making a French Cook

The making of a man cook in France is a lengthy and tedious process When a young man decides to pursue culinary career he selects his master to whom he pays a fee of $400 The aspirant is first assigned to the vegetable cook who teaches him how to prepare the raw materials When he has mastered this he is initiated into the mystery of cooking them This thoroughly learned he studies the way of cutting up raw meat of preparing fish and how to stuff, dress, truss and lard game and poultry When he has thoroughly learned this he is placed before the range where he receives instruction in the various processes of baking frying, roasting and baking

When he graduates from this department he passes under the control of the second cook who reveals to him the mysteries of sauces and soups The interest of this functionary in his pupil is necessary to accelerate with liberal and frequent tips The young man is now turned back to the pastry cook to whom he serves a long apprenticeship until he is competent to put several more than three thousand papers of fashion use

I think the only thing I am ashamed of is that I admitted such ignorance when I was examined for his hospital I am thirty I always light my cigar in old match it possible, and invariably row the servants if they buy too many —New York Tribune

At the zoo the zebra will pass deaf and ostrich went into paroxysms of rage at the sound of the piccolo although they had manifested various signs of pleasure over the violin and flute The tiger was asleep and refused to be awakened by the fiddler and flutist But when the man with the piccolo began to play the animal sprang furiously to its feet and rushed angrily up and down the cage, lashing its tail So extreme was the beast's anguish that the piccolo man speedily gave place to the flutist The difference in effect was at once apparent The tiger stopped, listened, lay down and purred like a kitten in its enjoyment of the grateful sounds, and presently fell asleep in luxurious repose —London Spectator

The Daily Dinner In Some Houses

In no way has the spirit of the times brought more change than in the dinner hour and costume The grandfathers of the present generation thought 6 o'clock a late hour to dine but now 7 30 is considered early The master should also don his dress suit although the Tuxedo coat in one's own house is allowable The mistress dresses as though for ball the only difference being in the material which is plainer, and the jewels which are not worn Finally the same rule must be observed in serving the dinner as at table when a number of guests are present —Vogue

Books on love and the relation of the sexes, whether from the standpoint of a man or a woman are generally excessively stupid and exasperating

Simple diet is best for many dishes bring many diseases and rich sauces are worse than even bringing several meats on a plate —Pliny

There are said to be more ex Union soldiers in Caldwell county Mo than in any other county in that state in proportion to population

Hood's Sarsaparilla Built It Up.

Cured a Bad Cough—Cured the Barber's Itch, Etc

John J. Campbell
Lewiston Me.

"I know I ought to have sent my testimonial in favor of Hood's Sarsaparilla some time ago because it did me a vast amount of good I was broken down in health and had a very bad cough The medicines which I tried did not seem to hit the spot. A shopmate noticing my distressed and emaciated condition prevailed on me to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. The first bottle gave me help and when I had taken the third I was fairly on the road to good health which I soon reached The cough left me entirely, and has not troubled me since. I may also state that a short time ago I had the barber's itch and was in a very bad state and it
